We're on a mission to save the seed for the birds!

Birds can't taste spicy foods. Unlike humans and squirrels, birds don't have the same taste receptors that detect heat from peppers. Squirrels, however, can—and they'll think twice before raiding your feeder again. A single squirrel can eat its body weight in bird seed every week. Spicy Bird Seed helps your seed last longer by discouraging pests—so you won't have to refill your feeder as often.

Our Spicy Bird Seed Blend is specially crafted to give wild birds the balanced nutrition they need. Peppers are rich in vitamins A and C, antioxidants, and natural phytonutrients that help keep birds' feathers vibrant and their immune systems strong.

Our seed works great in Hopper, Tray, Tube, and most other common feeders! For best results, keep seed out of direct rainfall. Many backyard birds are non-migratory and rely on consistent food sources year-round. Feeding birds through the winter helps ensure they remain in your yard come spring.
